MASTER BUILDERS DECLARE THEIR PRINCIPLES.

Workmen Have the Privilege of Organizing, but They Should Not Do Anything Disagreeable.

BISHOP POTTER'S ADDRESS.

He Says That Personal Interests in the Trades Unions Obscure the Interests of the Whole.

The National Association of Builders of the United States met in fifth annual Convention yesterday in Masonic Hall. There were twenty-seven delegates present, and thirty-four exchanges were represented. President John J. Tucker, of this city, made the opening address. After the transaction of some routine business the Convention adjourned till the

On the question of trades unions the "fundamental principles of the National Association of Builders," which were distributed yesterday, prosent the curious feature of "now you see him and now you don't see him." As this Convention is a matter of some importance to workmen I mention some points in the declaration of principles. The association says it "affirms that absolute personal independence of the individual to work or not to work, to employ or not to employ."

Then it goes on to say, as if in deprecation of the enunciated principle, that it "would appeal to employers in the building trades to recognize that there are many opportunities for good in associa tions of workmen;" and "while condemning and opposing improper action upon their part they should aid and assist them in all just and honora ble purposes."

USELESS TO ARBITRATE.

Next the association says without reservation :-"While upon fundamental principles it would be useless to confer or arbitrate, there are still many points upon which conferences and arbitration are perfectly right and proper."

The association recommends the adoption of a system of payment "by the hour" for all labor performed other than "piece work" or "salary work." The Convention was invited to visit the New York Trade Schools, and it was here that Bishop Henry C. Potter made a remarkable speech. These schools were founded by Colonel Auchmuty, an architect. They are situated in First avenue, near Sixtyseventh street. Colonel Auchmuty married into the Schermerhorn family, which owns the extensive estate upon a part of which the schools are located. They were founded about nine years ago, and the houses which the proprietor, Colonel Auch, muty, has erected on the estate were built mainly by the students of the schools.

The New York Trade Schools are in very bad odor with the trades unions, for the reason, it is alleged, that they supply very cheap workmen and indifferent workmen into the bargain. There is no doubt that the master workmen are in favor of the schools, because the deficit in the running expenses is made up by the bosses, so I was informed. Last year's report shows that there was a deficit of about $5,000. Notwithstanding the heaviness of the rain all the delegates went to the schools and made a long inspection of the carpentering, brick-laying, plumbing, painting, mason and other de-

Among those present were Morris K. Jesup, General Fitz John Forrer, W. H. Webb, ex-School Commissioner De Witt J. Seligman, A. G. Begert, Oliver Barrett, Frederick Sheldon, David Lydig, Thomas Meyer, Edward Potter, Dr. Henry M. Field, John J. Kane and John Beattle.

10:402 FOTTER'S ADDRESS.

Colonel Anchmutz, in a brief speech, welcomed the visitors to the schools. He said so widespread was the desire to learn a trade that there were pupils there from twenty-three different States. The newspapers, he said, had called attention to the importance of bringing young Americans into the trade schools and had commended them and every effort they had made. The solution of the trade question was the education of youth in schools.

Bishop Potter was then introduced. To said to Bishop Potter was then introduced. He said in part:—

"There is a close analogy between you and me. The word 'clerk' or 'clark' describes in our American language the business of one who is to write. In the olden days he was an ecclesiastic or clergy-man. There was a time when he was an 'all 'round' man. Then there came to pass—what? The teaching of the parson or clerk became circumscribed, and then came the school, the college and the university. In which youth were taught everything that would widen the scope of knowledge.

Hattan Island, and assed whether in the limited vision we now prosesses as to our city's needs with a prospective "greater New York" we were not injuring the valuation of our own properties by insisting upon widening this canal. "Fill it up! Let rapid transit go right along, join all those sections now part of our own city virtually, and the millions now appended, which even in the years to come will not materialize, can be saved for better purposes."

Mr. Henry L. Morris, related to the well known Fordham Morris, made an elaborate reply, showing the value of the yearse and the university of the present water fronts on the Har-knowledge.

"It is something precisely analogous to that which has produced these schools. Once there was the master and the apprentice, both living under the same roof and the apprentice sitting at the master's table, and when he could do it the apprentice occasionally married the master's daughter. (Laughter.) I don't know but that sametimes harmens now.

daughter. (Laughter.) I don't know but that sometimes happens now, "Any such relation between master and apprentice has ecased to exist. What are you going to do with the young man or boy who wants to learn a trade? We must deal with the question of a skilled hand who is to exercise the trades practised in this rade? We must deal with the question of a shilled band who is to exercise the trades practised in this country.

MODERN ACHIEVEMENTS.

"There comes in the history of a new country a time when it builds something more than a clapboard house. That wonderful newer America, Chicago. Denver and other cities in the West, is showing us magnificent domestic architecture. At the same rate of progress we shall soon have as fine ecclesiastical architecture as the world has ever beheld. (Applause.)

"In the achievement of what you are called upon to do, how are you going to give the best chances to the youth, say, here in New York? What are young men doomed to do in most of our cities? To go into great warerooms and stand behind counters, where I would rather have the courtesy of a woman. Why is this?

"Because the avenues which should be open to them in the employment of the human hand are largely closed. How many apprentices shall be employed in this or that trade depends on the arbitrary will of those who are for self-protection, in which, unfortunately, personal interests obscinct the interest of the whole.

At this the andience of employars burst into loud and long continued applause.

"My only regret is that there is not something answering to it among preachers—(aughter and applause)—in order to protect the rights of the parson and secure him a better salary than that of a country minister.

"But I deny any one's right to limit those Godplause)—in order to protect the rights of the parson and secure him a better salary than that of a country minister.

"But I deny any one's right to limit those Godgiven instruments—tholding forth his hands)—or to enter that trade into which my genius or taste might draw me. I believe this America would be happier in a multitude of ways if its native talents were employed to-day far more largely in what I may call constructive work." (Applause.)

Bishop Potter went on to say that the mechanical arts to-day were in the hands of foreigners. Why? Besause of the trade schools in Germany and France, where brain and eye were educated to-gether. Until we had made our mechanical training system as good as our public school system American enterprise would languish and walk in the rear.

In conclusion Bishop Potter spoke very highly of Colonel Auchmuty and his work.

Student Frank Thompson, of Detroit, of the plumbing class, presented the Bishop with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

Bishop Potter, in reply, told a humorous story of a plumber he had met who, in response to a request for an estimate in repairs, said he would take the house in part payment.

Sectoary Sayward made a speech and then the felegates paid a visit to the handsome Turn Verein Building in Sixty-seventh street.

Eeporta will be received to-day, officers nominated and Mr. John L. Wilkie will make an address on the "Legal Aspects of Boycotts and Strikes."

ALL ON HAND BUT JOHN H. INMAN.

HE IS HODNOBBING WITH GOULD WHILE THE HAPID TRANSIT COMMISSION ORGANIZES. The Bapid Transit Commission held their first meeting since the Rapid Transit bill was passed yesterday afternoon in the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company's building, Nos. 16 to 22 William The meeting was solely for the purpose of organization, as required by the bill. The Commissioners present were William Steinway, John H. Starin, Samuel Spencer and Eugene L. Bushe. John H. Inman, the only absentee, is still with Jay Gould's party down South.

The organization was effected by the election of William Steinway, President; John H. Starin, Vice President; Eugene L. Bushe, Secretary, and John M. Bowers, Counsel for the Board. It was decided to lease the rooms for one year, the annual rental being $2,000.

The bill requires the commission to adopt a seal. The general features for a design were agreed upon and sketches will be aubmitted at the next meeting of the commission, which will be held on February 16. A certified copy of the bill has not yet been sent from Albany.

After the meeting Mr. Steinway said that nearly every day somebody in New York hatched a rapid transit scheme and sent it to the commission.

"I have no wish to discourage them," added Mr. Steinway, "for there is no telling from what source a really valuable suggestion will come."

The oaths of Rapid Transit Commissioners John H. Stafin, John H. Iman, William Steinway, Samuel Spencer and Eugene L. Bushe were filed yesterday in the County Clerk's office.

FILL IN THE HARLEM RIVER!

THIS IS THE DEMAND OF SOME REAL ESTATE

MEN WHO WANT RAPID TRANSIT. The week opened with a "boom" in the real estate market for west side uptown property. Many negotiations pending came to an issue. I have to report the sales of several properties at private contract on Saturday and yesterday, and which came to my knowledge yesterday afternoon while there was no business in the auction room. Most of these sales are on the lower west side, denoting a permanent faith in ultimate rapid transit, as appears by the following account of sales:-W. E. D. Stokes has sold to Victor Ehrbacher

No. 330 West Eighty-sixth street, a four story dwelling on lot 20x100, for 346,500.

1. A. Squire has sold No. 312 West Ninetieth street to James T. White (Charles McRae, broker), for $25,000. This house occupies a lot 20x100, and is a three-street gwelling.

$25,000. This house occupies a lot 20x100, and is a three story dwelling.

Squire & Whipple have sold to Mrs. Lynch Nos. 61 and 67 West Ninety-sixth street, on lot 20x100 each, for a total of $76,000.

W. E. Lanchantin has sold to Charles J. Hughes No. 313 West Eighty-eighth street for $20,000, and to Mr. James Hall, of Broome street, No. 314 West Eighty-eighth street, for $26,000.

Broker R. Pehleman sold yesterday for John E. Carey the four five story apartment buildings on the northwest corner of 104th street and Contral Park West, 100.11x100, to Steers & Menke, for $157,000.

the northwest corner of 104th street and Central Park West, 100.11x100, to Steers & Menke, for $157,000.

Broker H. Rawak also reported the sale yesterday at private contract of Nos. 4 and 6 West Fourth street for Messrs. Hayden & Winters for £135,000. These are new six story buildings and the purchaser is a prominent merchant of this city.

On the auction floor of the Exchange there was only one public sale. Under decree of foreclosure Scott & Myers sold No. 309 East Forty-second street, east of Second avenue, a four story dwelling on lot 17x100.5, for $3,000, to J. V. McManus. All other sales at auction were adjourned to future dates.

Excisiantos by Professiv Owners.

When the business of the Exchange had closed and numerous brokers had left their offices yesterday there was an interesting meeting of the Legislative Committee of the leal Estate Exchange. In the Board room there were not only brokers, but leading property owners, who were present for the purpose of sither favoring or combating the various matters of which this committee, on behalf of the Exchange, has exclusive charge.

President Murtaugh was in the chair and Secretary Philip A. Smyth was promptly at his desk.

The first report received was that of the Committee on City Improvements, of which George S. Lespinasse is chairman. It related to the reservoir at Forty-second street, and stated emphatically that no "gardens" should be erected on the top of that reservoir, but that the entire premises should be removed and that the ground thus vacated should be used for park purposes. The report was unanimously adopted.

Then came in the great question as to the Harlem River improvement, in regard to which Mr. Richard Deeves had given notice a week ago that he would move some timely resolutions.

Mr. Deeves is a builder, and his motion was remove some timely resolutions.

Mr. Deeves is a builder, and his motion was received with marked attention. These are the resolutions which he submitted:—

Whoreas the Hariem River is in no sense essential to be growth or prespectly of New York, the water frontage rithout the end driver being ample for all requirements and unequalled by that of any other city in the world, the aid water frontage being on both sides of the city and flording dockage within one and one-half miles of any teap point; and whereas the Hariem River forms a great arrier and hindrance to the northward growth and de-clopement of this city from the fact that either section inidi Harlam River and lay out the streets and arenues over the same.

BROBERS SUMPRISED.

Of course the resolutions were a surprise to the assembled property owners. Mr. Deeves acknowledged at the outset that it was a question on which people might differ. He claimed that it was a mistake that New York's great northward growth should be retarded by a river or a canal. The Island of Manhattan, he considered, was about the most uninteresting tract of land on which to lay out a great city. If the early Dutch settlors had any vision at all of the growth of this great centre, he said, they would have selected Long Island, as being more level and a nearer approach to the topographical conditions of their own country. Their dreams never carried them above Canal street.

Mr. Deeves discussed the "canal across Manhattan Island." and asked whether in the limited vision we now possess us to our city's needs with a prospective "greater New York" we were not injuring the valuation of our own properties by insisting upon widening this canal. "Fill it up! Let rapid transit go right along, join all those sections now part of our own city virtually, and the millions now expended, which even in the years to come will not materialize, can be saved for better purposes."

Fordham Morris, made an elaborate reply, showing the value of the present water fronts on the Harlem River. He was supported by others, and it was finally decided to leave the entire matter to the Committee on City Improvements.

TANATIUM.

The Committee on Taxation, to whom was referred the bill now pending in the Legislature as to personal taxation, simply reported progress.

Mr. S. H. McMullan, chairman of this committee, is in favor of relieving real estate of what he considers the greatest burden—the tax on mortgares. When his committee agrees with him the full report will be submitted, but it is doubtful if there will be a unanimous report.

facturer would locate in Bridgeport, Conn. This information delighted an "Old Reader" so much that he was prompted to offer the following bet:—
"Oh, my! this is frightful and must be stopped. The McKinley bill is a curse to this country; it is giving employment to 600 workingmen and bringing a new industry to the United States. What a shame.
"And yet you have been telling us what a bad thing this McKinley bill is.
"Come, now, be honest and own up that you have been sawing away on the wrong tune.
"Perhaps you did not intend to put the above in, and I will bet the Brocklyn Bridge against the Status of Liberty that you will not publish this.
"Come, now, own up that it is a shame to give employment to 600 men and open up a factory which has been closed for a number of years.
